“ Diane, what a gal! I always had fun with Diane! She brought out the good in people, for sure,, I can definitely say she did that for me personally :) If I felt down , even when Diane didn't know, or did she?, hmmm...well, she said the right thing, the encouraging comment or something nice that made me feel better:), or yes something funny!!! I love that about her!
Yes, Diane LOVED her children and grandchildren and made those around her laugh, she and I laughed about the silliest things, and I felt comfortable being myself. Silly, ... a little zany.. absolutely ! And that's what we love about her! I can't wait to see my friend again!
Healthy and happy 😊

“ Diane was a unique person. I appreciate how she always expressed herself in her own way. You could see that in talking with her and even in her comments at our meetings of worship. She often brought out the humor in her take of any situation. I really appreciated her visit to a Sign Language congregational meeting. Usually you can hear a pin drop at their meetings, but she had everyone laughing. Yes she will be missed.

“ So many memories. We spent so much time together. Picking her up after work and having her over for dinner, apple picking, and one of my favorites, taking a couple of chairs and some snacks and sitting off the road up near the Alabama Swamps to watch the grey herons building their nests.

“ I have so many amazing memories w/ Lady Di. It is difficult to choose just one. But one of my favorites was being able to just enter her home, plop down in the couch and just hang. Eventually there would always be tea and snacks and chit chat, but just the comfortable peace and friendship that always welcomed me is a special memory that is now and forever connected with her name..... 🙌

Lovely photo of a lovely lady. Had many nice chats with her, especially about Streetsmart. She really loved that goofy cat! Prayers for her soul and for your family.

I ditto Sarah I miss her calls (whata ya up to) the hello was assumed As you got to know Diane you got to know all about her family I just have to put a face behind the stories She had a way of getting to the point in few words. Street was smart but not nearly as smart as Diane thought he was She adored her children Pattie was perfect in Diane's eyes It was sweet to hear her tell me about her many qualities Her positive attitude was infectious She will be missed
