“ I was lucky to be there as my Father took his last breath. His energy source went right through me. A peaceful moment and extremely personal. He has given me the strength to stand up and insert myself through this experience called life. I have learned so much through him and i am grateful. I love you so much Daddy and even in death you provide me with life skills. I am rocking out with you always and will use music to connect myself with you. So blessed to have your purity in my life. I will hold your inner child and make it present with my own. Forever and always

“ I worked with James in the rehab facility he was residing in. James was the friendliest and nicest man. Always tried to put a smile on my face, and did so very effortlessly. Sad is an understatement about how I feel at this moment. RIP James, you will be unimaginably missed. See you later <3

“ My sympathies to you all. I worked with Jim for 11 years at Williams, and a short while after Pameco bought us out & we all went our separate ways but still kept in touch. I posted a short remembrance on the Williams Refrigeration Facebook Page for our co-workers in other states to see. My prayers are with all of you. Jerry Lester

I loved my Dad because we could have deep conservations on the verge of existential crisis! He loved a good conversation and it would always end up to be questions upon qestions after the night. Scifi guy always worked my thoughts 💕 thankful he touched you too

I often refer to my brother, Jim as the "Other Man" in my life. Despite being married to my husband, Dan, for almost 50 years, Jim was the guy I shared so much with. We had a lot of the same tastes - in music, in food, in casino visits. We had so many good times throughout the years, and during the last 2 1/2 years, some tough times as well. He showed his strength during his long battle, always wanting to spend more time with his family. I know he's hitting jackpots and rocking out in heaven, with no more pain and sorrow. Amen.
