“ I was very fortunate to watch Jerry grow from a 4-year-old little boy to a very handsome man. Jerry had a heart of gold. I would be sitting on my mom's front porch on Bailey Ave. visiting with my mom. Jerry would always stop and talk with us. My mom liked it when he visited. He was so polite to her and always asked if she needed help. Jerry, may you rest in peace and please tell my mom I miss her a lot. Even though we lost our close connection through the years, you will be missed. I will always have a place in my heart for you. RIP Love you always, Sandy.

“ I never got to meet Jerry. I just got to know him on Facebook. I've had the pleasure of talking to him for several years, and he was always so kind, loved all my posts , and left many heartfelt comments. We spoke about his disability, what he was going through, and about his daughter. It's amazing how you can have an actual meaningful relationship without meeting someone in person. I'll miss you Jerry Blackwood. We'll meet in heaven and connect the dots and figure out how we're related when I get there, (my maiden name is Blackwood), until then, I hope they have the biggest bad aest motorcycle in heaven and that you're enjoying the heck out of it!
