You need to leave Stephen's friends and family alone, you are dating another Steve currently and you are the one who got him into the junk. You are a terrible person. Respect his friends and family and leave him alone. This is all your fault.

“ I couldn't even begin to tell you how or when exactly Steve and I met. He bullied me when he first met me and at some point we became friends, but we had even had the discussion that we didn't know when exactly. But he was my best friend and even when he was gone for long periods of time, even when I didn't hear from him I still knew that when we did see each other, it would be like nothing had happened aside from having news stories to tell. In fact, just a couple of years ago we were discussing how we had a decades worth of memories and how many memories we had and that at the very least we had another 40 or 50 years worth of memories to make. Steve will always be in my heart. Steve was a brother and we almost had the same personality. He was the only one on the planet that could make me do something no matter what regardless of the consequences. Somebody needed help, all he had to do was ask if I wanted to help him. If there was something I was scared of, as long as he was with me I thought that I could take on the world. I will miss him forever but I will also now live to try to do the things that we did want to do because he will be with me in spirit and I know that he'll want to go on the adventures still. He tried to be a good man, we all tried to guide him and some of us were the only light chasing away his demons, with which he had many, but we loved him for his flaws, for his imperfections, for his personality, for his goofiness, for his ability to always bring you back up even if he didn't say the right thing. Even if it was the completely wrong thing to say, from him it could still make you smile. Steve, I love you and I'm going to miss you but, I will try to make sure that the things you did miss, that you will be joining in spirit and one day I'll be with you too. And when that day does come nobody will be able to stop us again. I hope that you are a guardian angel now watching over us to make sure we'll all be okay. We love you Steve.

“ My best friend. This breaks my heart man you were always such a real solid down to earth friend you would never turn your back on anyone. I will always miss your spirit and our laughs there was never a dull moment. You would always cheer me up and we're always there for me. I can't believe this is real man this hurt has me feeling so lost right now. You were really my best friend. I hope no matter what your ok and in peace. Want to send all my love to your mother and sister and dad. rest in peace 🌞🌙🌟🙏
