“ I have tried to find her for a long time. I never expected this. My heart hurts. The first time I met her was playing softball. She was so awesome on the field. We had a little group of friends and she was way too much fun. I miss that. We acted like a bunch of kids having playful fun. Sitting on a carpet and sliding down the carpeted steps at Jackie's house and just laughing like crazy. I helped Tracy get a job at Pepsi and she was one of our best workers. I was sad to see her move on from Pepsi. We kind of lost touch and I have tried to find her so two days ago I came across this and my heart just sunk. I've been thinking about her since then. She was a great friend I will never, ever forget and will see her in my heart forever young.

“ I will never forget about how she used to call me all the time just to check up and talk about random things, I'll always miss going to her apartment, having pizza, and playing with the dogs and always sharing laughs. I never thought I'd lose my mom. Thank you everyone for your memories and thoughts, it is greatly appreciated

“ Tracey,
Just thinking about you and missing you. I sit in this hospital bed, waiting for you to come in, apologizing for being late and telling me random things. Then I tell you to just breathe and sit down. God, I still can't process or wrap my brain around the cold fact I'll never see you again. Rest well my dear friend. See you in Heaven.

“ *Tracey, time has ended to soon. I remember sitting at kitchen table having coffee at the house on Barbados, watching you and Jen coming in and out.
We all have some problems, girl I pray you no longer hurt and are happy and safe.
Those left behind will remember your smile, laugh, energy and wit.
God bless, love and light .*
